

Latest Announcements Block

The Latest announcements block displays recent announcement posts as a list of items. It also contains a link to older announcements. By default, the Latest announcements block displays one announcement item if you add this block to your course. You can change the number of announcements that display.

Instructors must add announcements to the Announcements forum, and these announcements are then linked to the Latest announcements block. (See the Announcement file for adding an announcement to your course.)

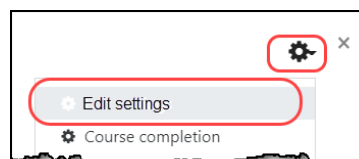

Changing the Number of Announcements that Display in the Block

1. Click on the Course management gear icon in the top banner.

2. Click on the Actions Menu icon, and choose the Edit settings option.

3. In the Appearance section, set the Number of announcements setting to your desired number, and click the Save and display button.

▼ Appearance

Force theme

Number of announcements

Show gradebook to students

Show activity reports